

CONGRATULATIONS!

Not only did you make it to your midterm but you invented a shortest path algorithm! Road and intersections can be used to form a network (a type of mathematical graph) and algorithms, such as shortest path, allow applications like Google Maps and Waze the basics of getting you from start to finish.