

Roommates for next year need to be decided, and there is chaos with your friends. There are some clear favorites while others dislike each other.

In this situation, the goal is for everyone to room with the person they most prefer from among those who prefer them. You must figure out pairs for double rooms where no two people both prefer rooming with each other over their assigned roommate.

Finding the pairs will give you and all your friends a means to be GLAD.